- (1) The primary purposes of the association are to provide needed women-run primary health care services to disadvantaged and marginalised women in the area in which the association operates, including a range of medical, nursing, complementary medicine, counselling, information, support and referral services with an emphasis on preventative health care measures. Services will be conducted in accordance with the philosophy of the association (set out in subclause (3)) and the best standards of professional excellence in various locations, and as resources permit.
- (2) The association will also:
 - (a) provide and co-design health information, education programs, group activities and resources promoting the physical, emotional and psychological well-being of women, enabling women to take more control over their own health care;
 - (b) provide services and programs based on need, with special attention being given to First Nations, migrant, differently-abled, economically and socially disadvantaged women;
 - (c) advocate for and support initiatives and actions for change (including research and co-designed initiatives) that will improve the health and status of women in our society ensuring that services and systems are more responsive to women's health needs and there is a better understanding of social, economic and cultural factors affecting women's health;
 - (d) act for the relief of poverty, suffering, sickness and distress and engage in charitable and/or benevolent activities which are consistent with these purposes; and
 - (e) do anything incidental to, and conducive to, the furtherance of these objects.
- (3) The philosophy of the association is as follows:
 - (a) The association respects the dignity, rights and potential of all individuals who identify as women. It demonstrates this via its recognition of the rights and responsibilities of the individual and of specific groups/communities, and its commitment to self-determination for individuals and groups/communities.
 - (b) The association works within a feminist/wholistic framework and a community-oriented primary health care approach, to improve women's health.
 - (c) The association recognises the just claim of disadvantaged and marginalised women to the resources of the community. It embraces diversity and undertakes to provide service regardless of race, ethnicity, sexual orientation and gender identity, ability, country of origin, lifestyle choice or faith as resources permit, and will prioritise the needs of disadvantaged and marginalised women/groups in the community.
